The patented blend in the ingredients of both has an important role.

Fertility Blend® for women

Essential amino acid L-arginine helps improve blood flow to the reproductive organs, which significantly improves development of eggs and implantation embryos.

Catechins from green tea extract are approximately 100 times more efficient antioxidant than vitamin C. Help protect the eggs from damage from free radicals as a consequence of aging as well as environmental degradation.

Isoflavones derived from red clover extract support hormone balance, reduce the symptoms of premenstrual syndrome and contribute to the regular ovulation.

Fertility Blend® for men

L-carnitine is an essential amino acid required for the maturation of healthy sperm.

Catechins from green tea extract also fulfills an important antioxidant function. It helps protect sperm from free radicals and pollutants.

Chinese angelica extract contains high amounts of ferulic acid, which demonstrably improves the quality of sperm, thus their mobility and quantity.
